01 Overview

The smallest Big Four network at $39.8B, growing 5.1% in local currency — faster than Deloitte's 4.8% and EY's 4.0%, but from a materially smaller base. Growth is concentrated in tax, legal and audit; advisory, where AI work sits, grew only 2.9%.

Offering: Audit, tax and legal, and advisory services through member firms. Investment runs under the Collective Strategy, a three-year $4.2B plan announced in 2023 covering technology, talent and sustainability.

02 Use Cases & Reported Metrics

Sector	Deployment	Reported impact	Source
Network performance	Growth delivered across all regions and all functions in FY2025, following the multi-billion-dollar Collective Strategy investment programme launched in 2023.	Tax and Legal up 7.5%, Audit up 6.0%, Advisory up 2.9%; Americas up 5.6%, Asia Pacific up 4.7%, EMA up 4.7%	Link
Internal AI adoption	KPMG runs frontier AI tooling internally at scale across a 276,000-person network — a named enterprise user of Anthropic's Claude Code, and reporting roughly 90% Gemini Enterprise adoption among its employees.	Makes KPMG one of the largest multi-vendor enterprise AI deployments in the professional services sector	Link
Talent investment	Specialist hiring focused on AI and tax and legal services, with technology learning pathways built across member firms to support upskilling and career mobility.	Global headcount grew 1.8% to 276,030, with the growth concentrated in specialist roles	Link

03 Competitive Landscape

Other vendors in this market: Accenture · Aziro · Bain & Company · Booz Allen Hamilton · Boston Consulting Group · Capgemini · Cognizant · Deloitte

Where it sits: The service-line split is the most useful thing on this page. Tax and Legal grew 7.5% and Audit 6.0%, while Advisory — the consulting arm that would deliver AI work — grew 2.9%. That is the opposite shape to Accenture or BCG and it means the headline growth rate overstates KPMG's momentum in the areas relevant to a portfolio AI programme.

04 GIP & BlackRock Connections

GIP became a wholly-owned BlackRock subsidiary in October 2024 and now operates as BlackRock's dedicated infrastructure-investment arm. Stakes below are standard institutional/index-fund positions unless otherwise noted.

Entity	Possible connection
Global Infrastructure Partners	No publicly disclosed GIP relationship. As with the other Big Four, check for an existing audit relationship at fund or PortCo level before scoping consulting work — independence rules constrain what can follow.
BlackRock	No publicly disclosed operating relationship.

05 Sentiment

Customer: Growth across all regions and functions is the aggregate signal, and 5.1% is respectable against Big Four peers. The composition is the caveat: demand is strongest in the compliance-driven lines that clients cannot defer, and weakest in advisory, which is discretionary. KPMG publishes no client-level outcome metrics.

What supports the story

- 5.1% local-currency growth outpaced both Deloitte (4.8%) and EY (4.0%) in the same period
- Growth across every region and every function, in what the firm describes as challenging market conditions
- A $4.2B three-year investment programme in technology, talent and sustainability, now delivering

What to pressure-test

- Advisory grew only 2.9% — the service line that would deliver AI transformation work is the slowest-growing
- Smallest of the Big Four at $39.8B, against Deloitte's $70.5B and EY's $53.2B
- Headcount grew just 1.8%, and reporting on the regional breakdown indicates the Americas and Asia Pacific headcount actually shrank

Employee: Headcount grew 1.8% overall with hiring targeted at AI and tax and legal specialists, and the firm points to technology learning pathways and external employer recognition.
