01 Overview

Went from about $1B to $47B of annualised revenue in seventeen months, overtaking OpenAI on revenue in April 2026 and on valuation in May. Roughly 80% of revenue comes from business and API customers rather than consumers, which is the deliberate strategic...

Offering: The Claude model family, sold through a direct API, Claude for Work, and the three major clouds. Product line as of mid-2026: Claude, Claude Code (agentic coding), Claude Cowork (desktop task automation for non-developers), Claude Design and Claude...

Key facts

HQ: San Francisco, California (public benefit corporation)
Ownership: Private; confidential S-1 filed 1 June 2026 targeting an October 2026 Nasdaq listing
Revenue: $47B annualised run rate confirmed in the May 2026 Series H announcement, up from roughly $1B in December 2024, $5B in August 2025 and $30B in April 2026. A third-party estimate (Sacra) puts July 2026 at $65B — treat that as an estimate, not a disclosure

03 Competitive Landscape

Other vendors in this market: Amazon Web Services · Google · Meta · Microsoft · NVIDIA · OpenAI · Perplexity · xAI

Where it sits: The enterprise-first thesis is the whole story here. Where competitors built consumer scale first, Anthropic priced and packaged for businesses, and the customer concentration reflects it — over 1,000 accounts spending more than $1M a year, eight of the Fortune 10, and a documented lead in coding workloads.

04 GIP & BlackRock Connections

GIP became a wholly-owned BlackRock subsidiary in October 2024 and now operates as BlackRock's dedicated infrastructure-investment arm. Stakes below are standard institutional/index-fund positions unless otherwise noted.

Entity	Possible connection
Global Infrastructure Partners	No publicly disclosed GIP relationship. Relevance to the portfolio is via the Individual Productivity and Corporate Functions Efficiency areas of the reference model, and increasingly Asset Optimization where agentic workflows touch...
BlackRock	No publicly disclosed operating relationship. Anthropic is private; any BlackRock exposure would be through private-markets vehicles rather than index holdings, and is...

05 Sentiment

Customer: The clearest signal is expansion rather than acquisition: accounts that start on one use case broaden into others, which is what drives the $1M+ cohort doubling in under two months.

What supports the story

- Revenue ramp has no precedent in enterprise software: ~$1B to $47B in seventeen months
- Enterprise mix of roughly 80% means revenue is contracted and expanding rather than consumer-churning
- Documented lead in coding workloads, the single largest paid LLM category

What to pressure-test

- Gross revenue recognition on cloud-reseller channels inflates the headline relative to net-reporting peers — adjust before comparing
- Third-party run-rate figures ($65B for July 2026) circulate widely and are estimates, not disclosures; several widely-cited numbers trace back to modelling rather than the company
- Extreme capital intensity — roughly $125B+ raised — with compute commitments that must be serviced regardless of demand

Employee: Not covered in this pass — Anthropic does not disclose headcount and no reliable employer-review data was gathered. Treat as a gap.
